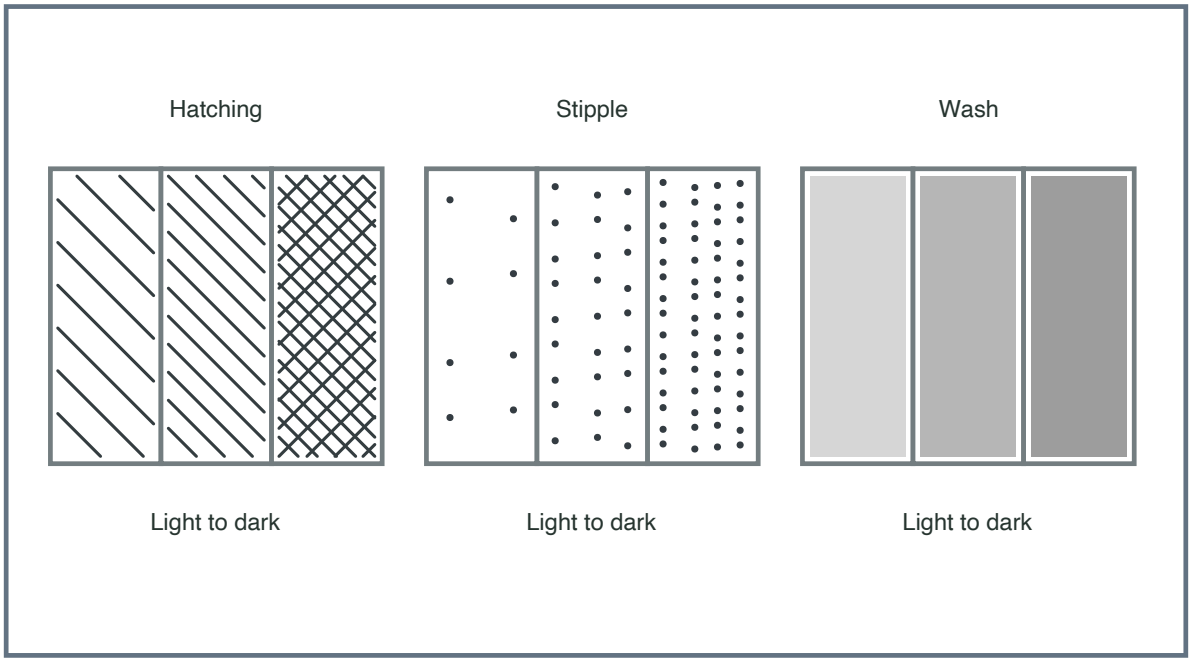
Pen and Ink Techniques Worksheet

Reference | Worked example | A4

Original prompt

Study the three-technique value strip: hatching, stipple and wash panels each stepping light to dark.



Answer

A correct strip shows three panels; each panel steps light to dark using only density or layering, and each technique stays recognizable in all three thirds.

Reasoning

Value in pen and ink comes from density (lines, dots) or layering (wash), so the strip tests whether you can control value without changing pressure.

Check

Squint at the strip: each panel should read as a clear light-medium-dark step, and no panel should look like a different technique.
