Elementary Printing Paper: Wide-Ruled Practice Pages for Young Writers

Original worked example / unchanged complete key

Prompt: Plan a two-page wide-ruled practice set. Page one has a name/date header and wide lines. Page two has the same header and slightly narrower lines. Describe how you would check the spacing with a short word.

Answer: Measure your own paper and printed lines with a ruler. On page one, write “bag” and check that b reaches toward the top line, a sits on the baseline, and g descends below without touching the next line. On page two, repeat “bag” and compare. If g touches the next line, increase the line height slightly or use page one for more practice. Keep the header and margins the same on both pages. This is a planning check, not a claim that a file exists.
