Whole-Word Handwriting Tracing Worksheet: Design and Use

Worked example / complete source key

A row shows the word sun. The model is dark, the trace is gray, and the blank zone has baseline, midline, and top line. The learner traces sun, then copies it. The copy keeps s, u, and n between baseline and midline, spaces the letters evenly, and omits no letter. Does the copy meet the convention?

Answer: Yes. All three letters are x-height letters, so they belong between baseline and midline. The copy is legible, evenly spaced, and complete, so it meets the stated convention.