Owl Tattoo Design: Bold Outline and Stencil Variant

Original worked example / unchanged complete key

Prompt: Draw an owl tattoo design in a hypothetical 120 mm by 150 mm frame using a 3 mm bold outline and a 1 mm detail line. Include one chest block, two wing blocks, and one tail block. Then draw a stencil variant with a hypothetical 2 mm bridge width and label three bridges.

Answer: The bold outline shows a rounded head 40 mm wide, a body 60 mm wide, two wing blocks, a chest block, and a tail block. The head-to-body ratio is 40 to 60, or 2 to 3. The stencil variant uses the same silhouette, converts detail lines to cut lines, and adds three labeled bridges of 2 mm each. The bridge count is three, and the silhouette width matches the outline version within 2 mm.
