Cute Snack Drawing: Simple Food Shapes Method

Ordinary topic reference / separately checked pixels

Cute Snack Drawing: Simple Food Shapes Method

Original worked example / unchanged complete key

Prompt: Draw a cute round cracker with two small square toppings and a simple face. Use one outline weight and three accent marks.

Answer: A closed circle for the cracker, two small squares overlapping the circle edge, two dot eyes at the midline, a short mouth curve, and three small crumb marks. The main form is about two-thirds of the total height. All outlines are single-weight and closed.

Reason: The circle is the largest form and controls the silhouette. The squares are secondary forms that overlap slightly. Eyes at the midline and a small mouth create a simple face. Three crumb marks stay within the accent limit.

Check: Measure the circle's width and height; confirm the ratio is close to 1:1. Count accent marks and confirm three. Check that both squares overlap the circle and that all outlines are closed.