Bold Contour Outlines for Japanese-Style Wave and Fish Tattoo Drawing

Original worked example / unchanged complete key

Prompt: On a practice area, draw a wave-band spiral with turns spaced one x-height apart, then draw a fish body three x-heights wide at the middle and one x-height wide at the tail. Trace both with a bold contour, leaving a one-x-height gap between the wave and fish.

Answer: The finished plate shows a bold spiral wave band with an open center and a bold fish contour with smooth fin connections. The wave and fish are separated by a clear gap, and the bold lines are visibly heavier than the thin guides. Spacing follows the chosen x-height marks, and all numerical values are treated as hypothetical examples.
