Raccoon Line Drawing: Single-Weight Contour Practice

Ordinary topic reference / separately checked pixels

Raccoon Line Drawing: Single-Weight Contour Practice

Original worked example / unchanged complete key

Prompt: Draw a raccoon facing left in single-weight contour. Body length 12 units, head width 5 units, tail length 10 units. Include two ears, a connected mask, four leg edges, and three tail rings. No shading or fur texture.

Answer: A clean outline: back curve from shoulder to rump, tapered tail loop with three rings stopped inside the edge, belly line, four leg edges, neck, head circle, two triangular ears, and a mask of two eye patches joined by a narrow bridge. All lines share one visual weight. Head-to-body ratio is 5:12, close to the plan.