Contour Drawing of a Chess King: Outline Study

Original task 1 / independent drawing and calculation

Task 1

Draw a blind contour of a king in a blind-contour box about 10 cm by 15 cm (hypothetical example; adjust to your paper). Start at the crown top, follow the silhouette down the left side through neck, collar, body, and base, then up the right side. Do not look at the paper. Include the crown-collar internal edge only if you can do so without looking.

Task 2

Draw a slow contour of a king with crown width 4 cm, neck width 2 cm, collar width 3 cm, body width 3.5 cm, and base width 6 cm (hypothetical values). Add exactly three internal edges: crown-collar, collar-body, base-body. Keep the silhouette continuous.

Task 3

A student draws a king contour where the neck is 5 cm wide, the crown is 4 cm wide, and the base is 6 cm wide (hypothetical values). The silhouette is continuous and there are two internal edges. Identify the main error and describe the fix without redrawing the whole piece.

Original task 4 / independent drawing and calculation

Task 4

Draw a contour of a king that includes the outer silhouette and exactly two internal edges: crown-collar and base-body. Omit the collar-body edge. Use a continuous line and no shading. State one valid alternative style that would still meet the rubric.
